EXORDIUM

Mr. K of Exordium will be bringing his one-of-a-kind children's exploration and science program to the library on Friday, August 25th at 2:30pm. Come learn more about the natural world that surrounds us and how you can uncover its many wonders. Through play, imagination, and loads of humor, Mr. K encourages young learners to experience their world in a new way. This program is free and registration is not required.

ADULT SUMMER READING PARTY

The first ever summer reading program for the adults at Ainsworth Library is a hit! With dozens of adults turning thousands of pages all season long, it's time for a celebration! Put down your book and dust off your party hat on Tuesday, August 29th at 5:00pm. Come find out who will win the grand prize! (Be sure to turn in your tickets no later than August 28th at 6:00pm.)

NEW COMPUTER

We now have a third public computer! We also offer free internet, printing services (15 cents a page for black and white, 50 cents a page for color), and a quiet space to do work. And don't forget about our monthly Tech Help Day, August 19th 10:30-11:30am.

YOUTH SUMMER READING PARTY

Many, many minutes are being logged by the library's young readers and on Saturday, August 26th at 11:00am we'll celebrate all of this reading. Every child who completed their reading goal will go home with a prize and a book of their own. Join us for fun, snacks and... the grand prize drawings for each age group! (All tickets need to be brought to the library by 7:00pm on August 25th.)
